

I Know I Can't Make All the Rules

Topic: How to Not Force Your Rules on Others

My brother and I play many different games.

We even make up a lot of our own games to play.

He sometimes wants to make up the rules for our games, like when we play in the leaves.

I have more fun when I can make the rules.

But he says I can't always make the rules. It is fair when we take turns.

That way we both enjoy the games we play together.

The Facts

- Everybody likes to make the rules sometimes.
- It's OK to take turns making rules.
- You can have fun playing by someone else's rules.

Questions

Do you always try to make the rules when you play?

---

---

---

If you don't make the rules, what happens?

---

---

---

Does it look like both boys in the picture found a way for both of them to be happy?

---

---

---

Are the boys having fun? How can you tell?

---

---

---

How would they look if one of them always made up the rules?

---

---

---